Insights Fuels Development

An all-women team of designers and product developers worked closely with the adidas running community and testers to create the new model. As part of their research and development efforts, the team tapped into women-specific footwear insights using the study that was based on 1.2 million foot scans, conducted and analyzed by footwear and technology researchers Jurca, Žabkar & Džerosk in 2019. The highly informative study was led by Ales Jurca, VP of Research at Volumental. the worldwide leader in 3D foot scanning technology.
